

Hello dear friends!

We are thrilled beyond words to announce the release of our new album "Tales of Utopia" on ACT records. This is our fifth studio album, and we are so thrilled for you to hear it.

We've worked on this album for more than two years, during lockdowns and on the road. It has taken on many different shapes and forms before accumulating to the album you will hear today. It is a concept album, using tales from different mythologies to create a single plot line that drives through the entire album. A young hero leaving his village and embarking on a journey of adventure, striving for an inner Utopia. His journey is described in the music.

While we have our own plot line, we would also love for the listeners to create their own plot line using the song titles and the music. It is, like all good stories, an open-end story.

So now, after working on the music for two years, the album is yours and for you. We hope you enjoy it!
